Onsite repair, preventative maintenance, calibration and operator training for your critical Fluidized Temperature Bath Systems

Accurate Thermal Systems offer onsite repair, preventative maintenance, calibration and operator training on all makes and models of Fluidized Temperature Bath systems used for calibration, heat treatment, cleaning of tooling and parts and shape setting of Nitinol medical devices. Relying on our 20+ years of experience in manufacturing, supporting and servicing these products will assure the best return on your investment. Another important point to consider regarding our services is that we have over 10 years of onsite experience working directly with and in front of customers on these systems so your satisfaction is guaranteed. We can also answer any of your application and usage questions so you get the best results.

- Service is performed at your facility with our own methods, tools and test equipment. After evaluating and correcting any operation and/or repair issues we perform a multiple point preventative maintenance check which includes a complete functional overview of the system as well as a thermal validation at your operating temperatures. We will also retune the system to optimize the control parameters for your conditions and operating temperature. Need a calibration label and certificate, no problem let us know.
- Does your team need additional training on the proper operation and basic maintenance of these units? This is included as part of our onsite service.
- Do you require preventative maintenance and calibration to be performed on a regular basis? We can schedule in advance to assist your operation in maintaining compliance with your quality, safety and operational objectives and adherence to any government mandates.
- Interested in upgrading your manually regulated air flow system to one that is fully automatic, contact us for more details.
- We also offer high grade white alumina bath media and brown aluminum oxide that is half the cost of other suppliers.
